questions on the use of Grammarly in student coursework; (S) The A&M Faculty Report given at the Board of Supervisors Meeting highlighted the many accomplishments of faculty and was well received by the Board. At the end of his report, President Tirone discussed the basic plans for upcoming meetings and invited Senators to make known to FSEC topics of interest they would like covered. There were no questions from the floor.

Special Orders: Faculty Senate Executive Committee Member-Large Election

President Tirone described the role of the Member-Large and then invited Mattza, the only nominee, to read her statement of intentions for serving the position. With no nominations from the floor, Mattza was elected unopposed to the position of Member-Large on the FSEC.

New Business

The next item of business was elections to Standing Committees of the Faculty Senate.

Goodman made a motion to hold the election for the Budget and Planning Advisory Committee. With no objections, the motion carried. President Tirone gave a presentation on the charge of the committee and discussed the nominated candidate. With no nominations from the floor, Adams was elected unopposed to the
